Body Bistro- beauty through Ayurveda

The essence of beauty products brand BODY BISTRO is a combination of ancient Vedic beauty rituals from India, Tibet, Nepal, Indonesia and Thailand.

The highest form of unprocessed botanicals and cutting edge technology combines in state of the art formulations to create products that actually do work! The products have been formulated according to the bylaws of the ancient science of Ayurveda.

And we can get Body Bistro here in New Zealand via their website. Carina H Chatlani, President/Brand Ambassador says, "We receive hundreds of enquiries from Australia. Orders usually come in via our online website as of now, and we are negotiating with a well-known local department store there to provide products locally which should come to fruition shortly. Meanwhile, we do sell to NZ and Australia via our online site."

What does Ayurveda mean? Legend has it that between the second and third millennium before Christ, a conference was held in a Himalayan cave attended only by the greatest sages in India for the purpose of alleviation of human suffering. They called their work, Ayurveda, composed of two Sanskrit words: Ayus (life) and Veda (knowledge).

Today, scientific studies have proven what the holy sages have known all along. Plants and their vital essences work. Their molecules contain the force to cure cancer as well as clear up blemishes from acneic substrate.

Products are perfectly suited to your own body's Ayurveda, such as best-seller Orange & Lavendar Refining Elxir. Feeling Irritated? PITTA (Pit-tha) for Sensitive or Acneic Skin purifies and calms sensitive and acne prone skin with oils of Lavender and Orange, natural plant-derived BHA from Willow Bark, Green Tea Extract and Gotu Kola join forces to fight pesky free radicals, diminish redness and reduce the visible signs of early aging.
